MARSH MAIL - News from Linton Village College

January marks a New Year and with it the tradition for fresh starts and resolutions. Those of us that are connected to schools are used to experiencing two of these a year: the formal start to the academic year in September, marked by crisp clothes and shiny, new stationery, as well as the beginning of a new calendar year in January.

This New Year holds particular significance for me as I start as Principal at Linton Village College and Executive Principal of the Chilford Hundred Education Trust. I have the privilege of leading a very special and successful school and a team of excellent staff and exceptional students across both LVC and The Meadow Primary School in Balsham.

During the interview process, and since being appointed to the role in September, many people have asked me about my leadership vision and what changes I want to bring about when in post. My answer has been a fairly simple one: to maintain what is great about the school and to create opportunities for the school and Trust to continue to grow and improve.

When starting as a new head teacher it is customary to instigate lots of changes; to quickly make your mark through bold, symbolic and often cosmetic gestures such as a new school logo, uniform, structure or rules. When taking over an underachieving school, changes such as these can help to rebrand and rejuvenate. However, I would rather prioritise colleagues' energies and expertise on the most fundamental aspect of school life: securing outstanding teaching, learning, achievement and care for all.

Having high expectations of all students and providing an inclusive, enriching and challenging curriculum and a supportive environment in which everyone can flourish and thrive is fundamental to my educational vision. I am keen to build on Caroline Derbyshire's legacy and the school's success and achievements to date with the core values of comprehensive, whole education at the heart of any changes that I initiate.

As with any New Year's resolutions, in order to make ambitions achievable and realised they need to be well-considered and have buy-in from those involved.

While taking the helm at Linton as an internal candidate gives me the advantage of knowing the school well, one of my priorities for my first two terms at the school is to listen: to take the opportunity to speak with the school community and to get a real sense of what all stakeholders value most about the school and what they would like to improve.

Over the coming months there will be formal opportunities for students, staff, parents and other members of the school community to voice their opinions about the school through consultation activities. The first public forum event for parents will take place at Linton Village College at 6pm on Thursday 21st January.

In addition to this I will be inviting members of the school community to meet with me personally: I will be holding weekly surgeries on Friday afternoons from 2-5pm. Please make an appointment with Elaine Clayton if you would like to speak with me (elaine.clayton@lvc.org). In addition, a parental survey will be issued this month to capture a wide range of opinion.

I would welcome any further correspondence from school stakeholders; please do get in touch with your experiences and views. The simple reflection tool above may assist with identifying specific aspects of school life that you wish to treasure and preserve and other aspects that you would like to draw attention to. Sometimes it is the smallest changes and tweaks to routines that can make the biggest impact, not necessarily the big, radical gestures. Moreover, in a time of change, it is imperative to sustain what is working well and to look for opportunities to stop doing what is unnecessary or unhelpful.

I look forward to keeping in touch with the wider school community through monthly contributions to the local news publications in the future and by meeting more of you face to face.

Happy New Year!

Helena Marsh

JANUARY BULLETIN FROM CAMBRIDGESHIRE FIRE AND RESCUE SERVICE

Happy New Year.

Why not make a New Year's resolution to help keep you and your family fire safe this year?

Firefighters at Cambridgeshire Fire and Rescue Service are encouraging people to make three New Year's Resolutions in 2016 - and stick to them!

- Make sure you have a correctly fitted working smoke alarm on every floor of your house and test it weekly.
- Check older relatives and friends have a working smoke alarm and test theirs regularly.
- Make a fire plan so you and your family know what to do in case a fire breaks out in the home.

OP HUNTER - POLICE VISIT HOMES AT RISK

POLICE are visiting homes at risk of being burgled as part of a crime crackdown in the county.

Officers are seeking properties left unsecured or otherwise vulnerable to burglary as part of Operation Hunter.

The operation has been launched to reduce the number of burglaries in Cambridgeshire, which last year rose during November, December and January.

Burglary prevention activity is taking place across the county with officers patrolling hot spot areas and visiting residents to offer home security surveys.

Residents whose homes are at risk, for example due to open windows or being obviously unoccupied, will be given advice and crime prevention material.

Crime safety officer Carol Aston said: "Detectives are working hard to identify burglars and bring them to justice but the other main strand of our work is around prevention.

"We are seeking out those homes that are most at risk of being burgled, whether it be their location or they have been left unsecure.

"Our main aim is to raise awareness of what can be done to make your home uninviting to burglars."

In the three months from August to October last year, there were 569 dwelling burglaries in the county, compared to 628 during the following three months (November-January), a rise of more than 10 per cent.

Burglary is a top priority for the force because it leaves victims and whole communities feeling vulnerable and can have a massive impact on their lives.

Anyone with information should contact police on 101 or Crimestoppers, anonymously, on 0800 555 111 or online at www.crimestoppers-uk.org.
